REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Chicago, Sept. 3.-D. Green added to his fame this afternoon in the ninth inning of the game between the White Sox and the St. Louis Browns. With Isbell dancing around second, waiting to bring in the run that would tie the score, Green came to bat and hit viciously at two bad balls and let the only good one that Pitcher Slevers served up to him slide past. The strikeout was one of the most spectacular of its kind, and it ended the contest with a shut-out, 1 to 0, favoring the Browns. The only other features of note wore the reappearance of Sullivan in uniform and the base on balls which Flaherty handed to Anderson when the Browns' first baseman came up to open the last session. A moment later Wallace clouted the ball far over Green's head, reaching second on the hit, while Andy raced home with the only tally registered in the game. It was amply sufficient and would have been just as effective in settling the argu-

ings, for Sievers had the "Sox" comonly five hirs were made. Five little hits were all that Comiskey's men could gather and they were scattered through as many innings. "Ducky Holmes came the closest to scoring when he doubled in the first inning and was advanced by Isbell, who sacrificed. Holmes died there, for Jones fanned and Green couldn't push the ball past Anderson, In the sixth Flaherty was on second and Holmes on first, with none gone, but Isbell popped to Sievers, trying to bunt and "Ducky" was doubled off first on the play. Jones died his usual easy death. The only other chance the locals had

It is not generally known, but Pelty's con-nection with the Browns is not his first big league experience. He wore a Cleveland unileague experience. He wore a Cleveland uniform for one day last year, and wore that uniform right here in St. Louis, it was on the "Blues" last Western trip, and Armour erdered several minor leaguers to report to him at st. Louis. There were nive altogether, including Borner, Poichow, Graham, Starmage and Felty. Dorner was used in several games and retained. Poichow and Starmage each of hotaled in one game, and were allowed to go, Gramam was tried at second base, but found wanting, and our own Barney Petty did not get a chance to show. ment at any other stage in the proceed-

Barry McCormick is one of the few men in the business who is uniformly successful against Rune Waddell. He probably has made more hits off "Rune" than any other player who has faced the eccentric soutopaw this season.

This seems to be a bad year for the baseball catcher. O'Comor of the "Invaders" has been indefinitely suspended for insubordination. McFariand of the White Sox is under suspension for the season for drinking, builtvan of the same seam has to be o exated upon for appendicitis. Farrell of the Boston Americans broke a log entity in the season, and criger of the american has been massing a same back. Pentr and Beigen are both badly crippled, and Phelps and Sintin, Pittsburg's pair, have been alling the major portion of the season.

Jesse Burkett has not been batting up to his was in the ninth and Green's strikeout settled that.

Con Sherman: The play to which you refer is one that would have no chance to arise under the present system of rules, as only one umpire officiates in major league games. With the gouble umpire system in vogue, the umpire doing base work is absolute, so far as decisions on the bases are concerned, and had a right to order the player he called out of the field. In case of refusal by the player to vacate the base the umpire making the base decision would have a right to award the game to the other side. The umpire on ball and strikes had no jurisdiction in the matter, and had no right to command the game continued until the argument over the play on the base had been decided.

In the case you mention the umpire officiating on balls and strikes violated both the spirit and letter of all ordinary baseball rules.

Until the play at first had been definitely decided the umpire behind the bat was at fault in demanding a resumption of play, and if any award of the game by forfeit was to be made the umpire on hases in the case mentioned had a right to make such award.

"Iron Man" McGinnity, who the other day pitched his third successful double-header of the season, has a knack of keeping the muscles of his pitching arm in condition that is a secret of his own.

Joe Kelley, the manager of the Cincinnati "Reds." denies with much gusto the report from Cincinnati that Beckley, Phillips and Bergen were to be traded to the Philadelphia team of the National League at the close of the present playing season. OVER JOHNNY REGAN

San Francisco Man Declared Winner After Twenty Rounds of Rapid Fighting.

VICTOR'S MARGIN NARROW.

Brooklyn Boy Had Lead in the Middle Stages of Bout, but Abe Had Edge at Close.

By the narrowest of margins, Abe Attell was given the decision over Johnny Regan at the West End Club last night, man, and it appeared as if Regan's work from the eleventh to the eighteenth rounds fully entitled him to a split decision. Johnny was clearly the favorite with the crowd, and the verdict was received with as much hooting as applause.

Physical strength, as much as science won for Abraham, his superior muscle enabling him to fairly bend Johnny back at stages when they came to close range. As Regan's specialty was infighting, this gave the Frisco man the margin which resulted in his victory.

Attell outshone Johnny at long-range work, and at jabbing. Regan had the better of the infighting save at one or two stores. It was Attell's fight on points to the eleventh round. Regan's from the eleventh to the eighteenth. To that stage the bout had been clever sparring and blocking, with hardly a strong blow hit by either man REGAN LOOSES SPEED.

In the last two rounds Attell had the edge. Tired by his exertions in the earlier period, Regan seemed to lose some of his speed.

Midway in the nineteenth Attell lowered his head, hammered rights and lefts into Regan's stomach, fairly beat the Brooklyn man at inwork merely through his superior strength, and gained a lead which he retained through the closing round.

The fight was a magnificent exhibition of science, and, while neither man landed telling blows-punches that badly jarred the other-each will bear a puffed face to-day as the result of steady and savage jabbing.

The bout started rather easily. Attell landed the first blow, a left jab to the face. Twice or thrice he repeated the punch. Regan's counters being blocked neatly. The first round was rather slow. The boys warmed up in the second, however, and from that time on there was scarcely a moment's respite in the bout. Attell's clever boxing told in the early rounds, and the prospects for Regan landing cleanly on his opponent's face seemed

He got to Abe's body as he stepped into clinches, however, and from the early stages of the second round the fight was a succession of mixings at close range, Each would crowd in, upon the other lead. ing, would block or smother the blow and would then try and stir things up at short dismal.

This was Regan's stronghold, but it proved less telling than Abe's jabbing at ong range. To the eleventh round Attell had a lead on points, Regan being swung around several times by neatly placed jabs, which caught him as he came in bent

SOLVES ATTELL'S STYLE.

Then Johnny seemed to solve Attell's style. For eight rounds he landed steadily on Abe's face, countering every jab the Frisco man sent in, jumping back with catlike swiftness and showing remarkable work at blocking and jabbing. Again and again he landed with light taps on Attell's jaw and face, and soon had Abe's eye puffed and his lower jaw showing the effect of the stinging and

Abe kept appealing to the referee constantly, and scarcely a round passed that he did not turn to Referee Sharpe with he did not turn to Referee Sharpe with beseeching expressions.

Each man landed low blows in the fight, and the referee cautioned both. They wrestled and shoved in clinches each time in the round mentioned. Regan caught Attell with a rapid hook as he stepped back. Twice or thrice Attell collected himself, ran in rapidly swinging right and left, and forced Johnny back against the So rapidly did the blows go in at times that it was difficult to see which landed and which were blocked. By far the majority were neatly stopped by either man's glove, however.

Seventeenth, but he was clearly tiring. Then Attell cut loose. With Regan's decreased speed, he renewed his advantage over the Brooklyn man, assumed a margin of points, once sent him back against the ropes with a volley of punches with right and left, and was declared the winner as the gong sounded to end the fight.

JIM CORBETT PRESENT.

James J. Corbett and George Gardiner were present and each sat back of Attell. Corbett confined himself to his chair behind Abe's corner, but Gardiner entered the ring and swung a towel vigorously Brooklyn Tommy Sullivan, Andy Walsh and Jack Doyle were behind Regan. It was a great fight and a fast one, and

It was a great fight and a fast one, and furnished one of the most scientific displays ever witnessed in this city.

The structure was packed to the doors, scarcely an inch of standing room being obtainable, and this immense gathering was obliged to fight its way into the club through one opening at the west end of the building.

Corbett expressed himself as favoring the decision and stated that Attell was one of the cleverest boxers he had ever seen. seen.

KEENE APPEALS TO GRAND DUKE,

American Trainer Claims Suspension by Russian Racing Of-, ficials Is an Outrage.

DID NOT "DOPE" HIS HORSES.

Wonderful Success He Had in Winning Races Aroused the Jealousy of Other Owners-Was Persecuted.

St. Petersburg, Saturday, Aug. 22.-John Oliver Keene of Lodington, Ky., trainer for the racing stable of M. I. Lazarry, who has been suspended for a year dating from August 29, for the alleged use of some unknown drug, has won reventynine races with his stable, and over $100,-001 during the last four or five months. Keene and his friends say that is the only reason for the ruling against him.

Keene was trainer last year for Henry de Bloch, the millionaire of Warsaw, and won $54,000 with a single horse, named Sirdar. He has already exceeded this, though the season is not yet over, with M. won $56,500, and now holds all the 3-yearold records for Russia.

The success of the stables handled by Keene has been the sensation of Russian sporting circles for a year or more, and he has been accused of ruining horse racing in this country, since everybody bet on his entries. When the present season opened, Keene selected Irish Lud, a 2-year-old sired by Galtee More, an English horse procured at a great expense by the imperial stud for the great racing events, and Irish Lad won the Moscow and the Warsaw derbies, besides other valuable prizes. Keene's success was at-tributed by the leading sporting journal

The rival stables, however, were unwilling to acknowledge that Keene won by superior training alone, and had for months been trying to prove a case of "doping" against him, and eventually prohorses for eight hours at Warsaw. At Moscow an order was issued requiring all entries to stand in the paddock for four hours before every race. The Lazarry horses, notwithstanding this, still won, and the order was eventually abandoned, because all the owners protested against it as being cruelty to ani-

They gathered it on cotton and put it in bottles. It was afterwards examined by a chemist named Perl, who claimed to find traces in it of some form of morphine. Keene was then summoned oefore the Board of Stewards, and he swore that he had employed no chemicals. Two stable boys claimed they had seen Keene give some medicine to one or two horses, and M. de Bloch wrote a letter stating that he had discharged Keene for "doping." Keene did not deny that he had doctored the horses when they were sick, and demanded that he be confronted with M. de Bloch, but the Board of Stewards denied this request.

It is claimed for Keene that "admitting the honesty of the tests, a trace of mornihine might be due to the use of a certain phine might be due to the use of a certain contains might be constanced of the world the honesty of the tests, a trace of mornihine might be due to the use of a certain contains might be constanced of the world the morning this week marks the twenty-fifth aminiversary of the association, and is in the nature of a silver jubilee.

He claimed he employed it only after a race to help his entries to cool off properly.

William Gaywood, a rider, has been dismissed by his employer with the offer of $2.000 instead of $3.500 due him on his contract. The employer said he did not like Gaywood's riding.
